We, the Department of History and Political Science cordially Invite you for a two day seminar on Reconceptualising Women in Colonial Kerala: Issues and Paradigms

The seminar endeavour to bring the multiple and changing expression of women within colonial discourses. The interface between colonial perception and gender representation in Kerala is being highlighted. The debates made by colonial and anti-colonial discourse in redefining and recreating the identity of women and its impact on Kerala Society needs to be explored. It also focuses on the role of caste, community, literature and the so called Kerala Renaissance in Conceptualising 'Malayali Women'

We expect your participation and support for the success of the same.

Sakhi and IQAC jointly organised a webinar “Beyond the stereotype” in connection with the International Women’s Day on 08-03-2021 at 5 pm. Smt. Athira Murali and Smt. Aiswarya Pramod were the resource persons of the webinar. Smt. Athira Murali was honoured with the India Book of Records and Universal Record Forum for being the youngest person to have the most number of vehicle licences. Smt. Aiswarya Pramod though initially worked as a journalist later entered into advertisement field and launched Think Dots Media Productions in 2018 at the age of 23 and successfully completed a couple of excellent advertisement projects. They shared their success stories and interacted with the participants. The highlight of this webinar was that it was completely organised by our girl students including brochure design, technical aspects of an online meeting as well as compering.

SEMESTER 6

HY6CRT14- GENDER IN INDIAN PERSPECTIVES

This paper seeks to introduce the area of gender studies to graduate students. The present paper aims to explain the socio-historical constructions of sexual differences in Indian society by emphasizing the plural backgrounds. The paper is designed to prepare students to challenge the conventional social norms about male-female dichotomy and to conceive biological realities natural but as always conditioned through social norms, moral codes and historical process. At the end, the paper establishes that the very notion of gender difference is not natural but more of economic, political and therefore power oriented.

MODULE 1 - INTRODUCTION

Introduction to the concept of gender and gender history- difference between women's history and gender history- development of gender history since 1960s- epistemology of gender as a social division-significance and limitations of assuming a gendered historiography.

MODULE 2 - GENDER HISTORY IN INDIA

Defining gender in India- caste and class construction of gender identities- representation of gender in Vedic and non-Vedic literatures- concept of chastity in India (Vedic and non-Vedic) – representation of 'first, second and third genders' in Indian societies - patriarchy and matriarchy, notions of marriage and sexuality in pre-colonial India-devadasis-bhogastree- the dichotomy of Kula Stree and Veshya in Indian society- -dichotomy between polyandry and polygamy- history of motherhood in India.

MODULE3 - INDIAN MODERNITY AND GENDER

Construction of gender identities in modernity- history of modern manhood and womanhood in India- colonial morality and various responses-dress codes-child marriage-widow remarriage - construction of gender identities in modern family systems-Masculinity and femininity in Indian social history.

MODULE 4 - CONTEMPORARY ISSUES

The concept of transgender: contemporary debates- social hegemony over biological differences- women and religious purity/impurity debates-issues of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender in India-delimitation of women as bodies-the political economy of male-centered prostitution- gender inequality.
